ABOUT THE SEMINAR:- The National Seminar on "Artificial Intelligence in the Age of Digital Transformation: Law, Politics and Society" is a premier academic gathering dedicated to exploring the evolving interface between technology and contemporary governance. The seminar provides a dynamic forum for intellectual exchange on how AI is reshaping legal systems, political institutions, economic models, and societal structures. It seeks to create meaningful academic engagement through paper presentations, expert deliberations, and scholarly dialogue. By bringing diverse stakeholders onto a common platform, the seminar promises rich discussions that reflect the complexities of the digital age.

AIM :- The seminar aims to critically analyze the growing influence of Artificial Intelligence in the era of digital transformation and its multidimensional impact on law, politics, governance, and society. It seeks to provide a platform for meaningful academic discourse on how AI-driven technologies are reshaping institutional structures, democratic values, regulatory frameworks, and social interactions.

OBJECTIVES :- To examine the integration of Artificial Intelligence within legal systems, including judicial decision-making, legal research, and regulatory compliance.
To analyze the impact of AI on political processes, public policy formulation, electoral systems, and democratic accountability.
To explore ethical challenges, algorithmic bias, data protection, and privacy concerns in the digital age.
To understand the societal implications of automation, digital surveillance, and AI-based governance models.
To encourage interdisciplinary dialogue among scholars of law, political science, sociology, and technology.
